VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM

It is probably, almost without a parallel in having, during a trial of nearly twenty years, fully maintained the high reputation which it has acquired for Consumptive complaints and all diseases of the Lungs, Throat and Chest. It has been used probably with greater success than any other article known, and many physicians who have had an opportunity of witnessing its highly salutary effects, do not hesitate to recommend it as a "safe, convenient, and very efficacious medicine, equal if not superior to any other prescription for the above complaints within their knowledge, and one which has seldom disappointed the reasonable expectations of those who have used it."

The proprietors cannot descend to the present unflattering style of advertising similar articles. It is too well known to require any such course, and they would merely refer those who wish for further confirmation of its superiority to those who have used it, and to the numerous certificates of Physicians and others, attached to each bottle. The Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam was for many years the only article known as PULMONARY BALSAM.—Its great celebrity has given rise to a great many spurious articles, which, by partially assuming the name of the genuine, and being put up so as to resemble it as nearly as possible, are often foisted upon the public for the true article. Among these are "Carter's Compound Pulmonary Balsam," "American Pulmonary Balsam," "Vegetable Pulmonary Syrup," "Pulmonary Balsam," "Indian Pulmonary Balsam," &c. Beware of all of them. Enquire for the article by its whole name, the VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM, and be sure to get the TRUE ARTICLE, prepared by REED, WING & CUTLER, Wholesale Druggists, 54 Chatham Street, Boston, and see that it has the written signature of Wm. Jen's Cutler, upon a yellow label on the blue envelope. Each bottle and seal is stamped "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam." For sale by Druggists and Country Merchants generally.

A Woman's Love.

A woman's love, deep in the heart,
Is like the violet flower,
That lifts its modest head apart,
In some sequestered bower;
And blessed is he who finds that bloom,
Who sips its gentle sweets;
He needs not life's oppressive gloom,
Nor all the cares he meets.
A woman's love is like the spring,
Amid the wild alone;
A burning wild o'er which the wing
Of cloud is seldom thrown;
And blest is he who meets that fount,
Beneath the sultry day;
How gladly should his spirits mount,
How pleasant be his way!
A woman's love is like the rock
That every tempest braves,
And stands secure amid the shock
Of ocean's wildest waves;
And blest is he to whom repose
Within its shade is given;
The world, with all its cares and woes,
Seems less like earth than heaven.

Prosperity and Adversity.—Every man is rich or poor, according to the proportion between his desires and enjoyments. Of riches, as of every thing else, the hope is more than the enjoyment; while we consider them as the means to be used at some future time for the attainment of felicity, and after them secure us from weariness of ourselves, but no sooner do we sit down to enjoy our acquisitions, than we find them insufficient to fill up the vacuities of life. Nature makes us poor only when we want necessities, but custom gives the name of poverty to the want of superfluities. It is the great privilege of poverty to be happy unenvied to be healthy without physic, secure without a guard, and to obtain from the bounty of nature what the great and wealthy are compelled to procure by the help of art. Adversity has ever been considered as the state in which man most easily becomes acquainted with himself, particularly being free from flatterers. Prosperity is too apt to prevent us from examining our own conduct; but as adversity leads us to think properly of our state, it is the most beneficial to us.

NOTICE
To holders of Certificates of
"Registered State Debt."

WHEREAS the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island, at their last session holden in October, A. D. 1845, passed the following resolution, to wit—

THE YOUNG PAINTER, AND HIS BRIDE.
BY A STUDENT OF DARTMOUTH.

It was a beautiful afternoon in September. The setting sun flung his slant beams over the city of New York; while a young man, seated at an open window in one of the minor streets, was watching the dark shadows steal up the walls of the opposite houses.
The room which he sat was strewn with canvases, brushes, and all the paraphernalia of the painter's art. On an easel was hanging an exquisite portrait of a lovely female, and near it lay the palette, loaded with colors, which the artist had just laid down.
The youth arose, and approaching the picture, gazed upon it intently awhile, and took up the finest of the pencils.—After adding a few hasty, though skillful touches, he threw it from him, and exclaimed: "There, my art can do no more: to-morrow gives me fame and a bride, or ruin!"

With these words he turned aside, and took from a drawer a dainty slip of paper, on which was written, in delicate female characters, the words, "Nil desperandum."

The artist regarded the motto for a moment, his whole soul in the look—then fell into a reverie.

Six years before the scene just narrated, Joseph Prince, an awkward stripling of seventeen, with his father for the first time visited New York. They called together at the house of a Mr. Prince; a former townsman of Mr. Prince; and there, with the elder parties were discussing matters of business, our hero first met her who had so powerful an influence on his after life.

Isabel Selden was then a little more than fourteen, and Joseph had never in his whole life beheld a being so beautiful. And in truth her appearance would have inspired the heart of one far better acquainted with the world than the mere country lad. The faultless symmetry of her form, and the sweet, though arch expression that lurked in her smile, were enough to appal the stoutest courage; what wonder then that our youthful, unsophisticated hero was captivated?

Still Joseph could not avoid making comparisons very unfavorable to himself, between his own uncultivated manners, and those of the gentle, intelligent girl; and he longed to adopt some course of life that should render him less unworthy her regard. And when, at length, amidst the other wonders of the place, Isabel conducted him into a small apartment the walls of which were hung around with the choicest paintings, his wishes were realized.

Mr. Selden was an admirer of the fine arts, and neglected no opportunity of supplying himself with every work of the old masters, which his means would allow. Joseph, who had never before seen any paintings, save a few grim old portraits that frowned from the walls of his father's house, was spell-bound at the sight that greeted him. He gazed at these gems of art in rapturous enthusiasm, which even caused him to forget for a time the fair young creature at his side. He could not be torn from the room until his parent took leave of Mr. Selden; then with a parting look at Isabel, he slowly withdrew.

His purpose was already fixed. The talent which slumbered within him, was now aroused by the strongest impulses.—His whole appearance was changed; in that short hour, he threw off everything puerile, and clothed himself in the attributes of manhood.

Arriving at his home, Mr. Prince was surprised to find an air of so much determination in his son's character. Joseph announced his intention of becoming an artist; and his prudent father often remarked the facility with which he sketched natural objects, did not oppose his resolution. But he told him plainly that he could afford him little aid in the prosecution of his design.

Joseph only required his consent, to apply himself with zeal to the elements of his profession. His rapid improvement attracted the attention of those who had the ability to assist him; and he was soon engaged in painting, under the tuition of a distinguished master.

It is not necessary to detail his progress. A year had not passed, when he embarked as a common sailor in a ship bound to Italy. Upon his arrival there, he pursued his studies with increased interest, and with the proceeds of his labor gained a support. He spent nearly five years abroad, and returned to this country only about a month prior to the time of his introduction to the reader.

He came back an altered man. Inter-course with the world, and the refinements of his art, had given him, with a correct and discriminating taste, a more polished exterior. And when he called again on Mr. Selden, as patron of the fine arts, he met Isabel with very different emotions. He felt he might now aspire to her love with some probability of success.

It was the thought of her that nerved his arm when hope had well nigh left him. Her hand had guided the pencil, and magic creations of beauty arose at his touch.

Our hero told Isabel all this, and much more to the same purport, by way of preface to an exceedingly bold request.—Mr. Selden, when applied to in the matter, entered into a very candid explanation with Joseph.

"There is no man," said he, "whom I would have for a son-in-law more willingly than an artist; both on my daughter's account and my own. I would prefer you to any other. But from her station in society, she has a right to expect a husband of some note: and though I never yet saw any of your productions, I have no doubt you are capable of placing yourself on a level with the first painters of the land. What I propose, then, (and you will allow that it is but just,) is that you shall execute a portrait of Isabel, for exhibition, and if its merits meet my expectations, and I will add hopes, the original shall be your reward."

Joseph could not refuse to comply with a request so reasonable; and commenced the work with alacrity. He expended, as will readily be supposed, the utmost of his skill upon it; but as the time of its completion drew near, anxiety for the result took possession of his mind.

It was in a mood of unusual despondency that he received the note which has been alluded to, from whose hand he could not doubt.

"Nil desperandum" thenceforth became the watchword of his actions.—And with such a prize at stake, who would neglect any means to win?

It was the appointed day. The gallery for the exhibition was opened, and a young man with a flushed countenance, entering the room, stationed himself in a distant corner, impatiently awaiting the arrival of the other visitors.

A well known connoisseur first made his appearance. Walking slowly around, he paused when he reached the elaborate production of our hero, and surveyed it with an exclamation of delight, at the same time referring to his catalogue for the artist's name.

A moment after, Mr. Selden entered, with Isabel—her face radiant with hope—leaning on his arm. Hastily passing across the room they did not perceive the first comer, who, it is needless to say, was Joseph Prince.

Mr. Selden had purposely refrained from seeing the picture in an unfinished state, and now stood absolutely transfixed with amazement. He had prepared himself to find a picture of no ordinary description, but to meet with so perfect a work of art, far exceeded his most sanguine anticipations. Not a word was spoken for awhile; at last the low sweet tones of Isabel were heard:

"Father, is it not perfect?"

At these words the critic turned quickly round, and seizing Mr. Selden's hand exclaimed, "Upon my word, Selden, I was so absorbed I did not notice you were beside me. But whose work is this? His name is not on the catalogue—it cannot be a New York artist."

"Do you like it?" inquired Mr. Selden with a confident smile.

"Like it! it is a most masterly performance!"

No doubt the voluble gentleman would have gone on to a much greater length into enthusiastic praise, but he was interrupted by Isabel's discovery that her lover was in the room. Mr. Selden grasped him cordially by the hand.

Isabel waited, with downcast eyes, while her father presented Joseph to his friend; then being bidden to take the painter out of hearing, lest he should be abashed at their praises, she took his arm, and together they walked slowly round the room. It would be a breach of trust to reveal their conversation—enough to say, the elder gentleman did not break in upon it, until the hall began to be thronged with visitors.

Then Mr. Selden's very plain spoken friend came up to our hero, and told him he was proud in making his acquaintance and that he had a high respect for his talents; likewise that he should be exceedingly happy to see him at his house after the happy ceremony. What more he would have said is problematical; Joseph only heard thus, for he left him to follow his blushing bride, who had just made her escape.

An old Salt.—The St. John (N. B.) Herald states that there was on the 21st ult., in the harbor of that place, a vessel—the brig Liddle of Newcastle—which has walked the waters for no less a period than eighty-six years! She is said to be very "queerly shaped," and to all appearances yet quite strong, and capable of ploughing the deep for another eighty-six years.

Powers, the Sculptor, was born in Vermont.

Saving a Courtship.

It is related of the celebrated and somewhat eccentric Dr. Abernethy, of England, that he never thought of marrying until he was called upon to attend a sick lady, whose young daughter was her nurse, and in whom he observed those admirable qualities of heart and mind which he judged necessary to render the married state happy, so that he determined finally to propose for the hand of the fair daughter. Accordingly, on Saturday, when taking leave of his patient, he addressed her to the following import: "You are now so well that I need not see you after Monday next, when I shall come and pay you a farewell visit. But in the meantime I wish you and your daughter to consider seriously, the proposal I am about to make. It is abrupt and unceremonious, I am aware; but the excessive occupation of my time by professional duties, affords me no leisure to accomplish what I desire, by the more ordinary course of attention and solicitation. My annual receipts amount to £—, and I can settle £— on my wife; my character is generally known to the public, so that you may readily ascertain what it is.—I have seen in your daughter, a tender and affectionate child, an assiduous and careful nurse, and a gentle and lady-like member of your family; such a person must be all a husband could covet, and I offer my hand and fortune for her acceptance. On Monday, when I call I shall expect your determination, for I really have not time for the routine of courtship."

So much frankness and propriety of intention and speech, certainly deserved to be recompensed. The Dr. was saved all the nonsense of perhaps a dissimulating courtship, and the lady was wooed and won in the course of her filial duties. The union proved a happy one in every respect, and the example of the good physician, for honest candor at least, is worthy of all imitation.—Boston Transcript.

Expedition to Cape Palmas.—The brig Kent, of this port, left Fell's Point on Saturday for Cape Palmas, with emigrants and freight for the Maryland State Colonization Society. She carries out the model and moulds for a Baltimore clipper furnished by Mr. Goodwin, to be built in the Colony of the teak wood.—Sails, copper, rigging, and a full supply of ship chandlery were also provided. An able and intelligent ship carpenter went out to superintend the building of the schooner; also a caulker. They were hired to go out for the special purpose of constructing this vessel, but it is believed they will find profitable employment there for a long period, and that the beautiful model now sent out,—one of Gardner's best,—will not lack imitation.

Goods and merchandise to the amount of over five thousand dollars were also shipped by this vessel, to account of several colonists, funds for some of which have been long in hand. This does not look as if the Colonists were all poverty stricken; and yet the draymen and stevedores, who toil with the bales and boxes, and see their direction to well known names, cannot be made to believe in the advantages of Colonization, themselves thus furnishing the weightiest argument ever yet offered of the alleged inferiority of their race.—Baltimore American.

BIG THUNDER.—The Rochester Democrat says Boughton is well, and has been engaged since his confinement in taking care of two sick convicts.

LATER FROM PORT AU PRINCE.—By the arrival at this port, yesterday, of brig Ida, Captain D. S. Stetson, we have dates from Port au Prince, up to Nov. 1; being 15 days later than previously received. We learn that hostilities still continued between the Dominicans and Haytiens, without any prospect of an immediate termination. No collision, however, had taken place since last advices. Owing to the unsettled state of affairs on the island, during the last year, all articles of export had greatly decreased.—Coffee was very scarce, and readily commanded $17 currency. The market was completely overstocked with all kinds of American produce. The last transaction which transpired in flour brought $22 per bbl.; in other descriptions of produce quotations nominal.

Cor. of the Phil. Exchange.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—The St. Louis Missouriian says that wild hemp has been found in the State of Missouri. A farmer from St. Louis county, being in a hemp warehouse, accidentally saw some Manila hemp, made inquiry what it was, and, upon being informed, said he had produced something exactly like it from a weed on his farm, and that he would send in a sample, which he did; and it proves to be a variety of the Manila hemp, resembling almost the New Zealand hemp; but it is said to belong to the same genus as the New Zealand, Sisal, and St. Domingo hemp, from which all our heavy cordage is made.

Successful Researches at Pompeii.—A letter from Naples, of the 9th inst., published in a Paris paper, says that, a few days before, the scientific congress assembled at Naples, led by their president M. St. Angelo, repaired to Pompeii, where, in the presence of the society, investigations were instituted under the direction of M. Carlo Benucci, chief conservator, of the antiquities of the kingdom. The operations were crowned with success. In a street in the vicinity of the Augustan temple they discovered two shops fitted with different kitchen utensils made of iron and bronze, which were in all probability exposed there for sale. Opposite these shops they discovered a magazine, containing blocks of native and African marble, and five statues of white marble of different sizes including that of a fawn, and another representing the skeleton of a woman enveloped in flowing drapery. In this last statue the learned archaeologists present recognized the Goddess of Envy. At one of the extremities of the Rue de la Fortune they cleared their way to a house which contained on the ground floor a large saloon, filled with various articles of office furniture, in one of which were found some silver coins of the reigns of Vespasian and Galba, and several marble weights. All the heights surrounding Pompeii and several of the streets and squares of that city were crowded with people, so that it seemed for a moment as if the ancient Roman city had recovered its inhabitants, its life and its activity.

SWITZERLAND.—The murder of M. Lue. A rich merchant of Lucerne, Rodolph Corragioni, has been arrested at Berne, as the chief instigator of the murder of M. Lue. Corragioni was formerly in the army, in which he held the rank of captain. He has long been a distinguished member of the liberal party in the canton, and it is suspected that the charge brought against him proceeds rather from revenge for the part he has taken in politics, than any good evidence of his being implicated in the murder. At all events, he is at present kept a close prisoner, and all intercourse with him even on the part of his family and legal advisers, has been interdicted.

GERMANY.—The Zollverein has given a decision that the present duties shall remain unaltered, with the exception of half cotton, half lined figured stuffs, on which the duties are to be slightly raised. The tariff with the present duties, has been ordered to be printed, and to remain in operation for three years.

Government are experiencing some troubles in the Chamber of Deputies. Contrary to their wishes, the Chamber has resolved to present, in conjunction with the upper Chamber, an address responding to the speech from the throne. A paragraph in this address implied distrust in the government. In the course of the debates upon it, M. Karrenitz, one of the Ministry, disclaimed for the Cabinet all ideas of reaction against the new Reformation; professing equal tolerance for all persuasions in the state.

"The news we receive from the west confirm the fears inspired by the results of the treachery of which our troops have been made victims near Djemma Ghezouat. The heads of our soldiers paraded among the tribes have excited the Arabs to such a degree of effervescence, that an almost general insurrection of the province has ensued. At Mascara there has been a revolt of parts of the Beni Chougrane, the Sidi Dahou, and the Hachem Cheragas. The Djaffras and Yekoubias are also said to have fallen off. The camp of Auziet, left by the advance of our troops, has been burnt; the road between Mascara and Oran has been intercepted for several days.

In the quarter of Djemma Chazouat, it appears certain that General Lamoriciere has beaten the Kabyles on the 12th, 13th, and 14th, the news of which must have reached France. In the subdivision of Mostaganem, the Sheriff of Bou Maas, as you no doubt already know, has come under the very walls of the town, with more than 300 horse and 1000 foot. As soon as his approach was known, Lieutenant Colonel Mellinet went out with about 60 of the 4th regiment of chasseurs, leaving orders for the infantry to follow in all haste. He soon fell in with the enemy in the Valley of the Gordens, and in spite of the inferiority of his force, made a vigorous charge, and killed a great number.

This charge was followed up to three leagues; but when Col. Mellinet gave orders to his column to make a move to the left in order to gain the crests of the hills, the enemy, believing that he was making a retreat, came down in a mass, and a melee ensued, which threatened to be very murderous, when Major Odin, of the 4th chasseurs, came up with some horse, and the infantry also entered the valley. The Arabs then retired, leaving their dead on the ground, and our troops returned with the more credit, as in this affair many of the soldiers found themselves under fire for the first time, and fought under the disadvantage of a great inferiority of numbers. However unfortunate may have been this general rebellion of the west, it cannot raise any uneasiness as to our future domination.

The Greene Outrage.

Our readers, it is probable, have not yet forgotten the account of an affair involving an attempt upon the life of Mrs. Vars recently published in The Tribune. Since the publication of this article a man by the name, of John Johnson, a resident in Greene, has been arrested by the Sheriff of Broome Co. N. Y. charged with the murder of the wife of Mr. James Bolt, of Triangle, in May, 1844. It was supposed that Mrs. Vars was informed of the circumstance, and that, to prevent an exposure of his crime, the monster had made the attempt upon her life, which we have already noticed.

Johnson, the accused, is said to be one of the wealthiest men in Greene—is over 60 years of age, and is worth some $70,000. James Bolt, of Greene, the husband of the woman supposed to have been murdered—was the first witness sworn. From his statements it appears that he had been a tenant of Johnson's. That Johnson had forcible connection with his wife shortly after his removal to the farm, and had sworn to kill her if she disclosed the fact. Bolt accused Johnson, and the latter offered to compromise, either by payment in dollars and cents, or in lands. Bolt refused to be pacified, and removed from the farm.

This conversation was held on Saturday. On the next Monday morning Mrs. Bolt left the house (this was in May, 1844) since then no tidings have been received of her. Bolt's daughter—a young girl of 15—was called upon as a witness, and stated that she had overheard Johnson when making the above threats against her mother. Mrs. Burdick (whose case was the same as that of Mrs. Vars—having been gagged, bound and thrown into a ditch in a similar manner, and from the effect of which she became deranged, and was sent to an asylum as a lunatic,) has recovered from her temporary insanity, and returned to her home—from whence she has issued an affidavit that she was knowing to circumstances which left no room for doubt upon her mind as to the guilt of Johnson in the affairs of the disappearance of Mrs. Bolt. She inferred this from conversations which she had overheard between the accused and others—that she entered the room where one of these conversations was taking place in a very sudden and unexpected manner, and was asked by Johnson if she had overheard him. Upon her answering in the affirmative, he threatened to kill her, unless she promised to be silent—which she did. We extract the following from an article in the Oxford Times, published in Chenango Co. the scene of the mysterious occurrences of which it treats:

"We are told that Mrs. Burdick says, about three weeks after this conversation, Johnson came to her mother's house when she was alone, and inquired for her mother, that she told him her mother had not got home from Norwich; that he said what shall I do? that she asked him if he had any work for her to do—any sewing? that he said no, but business of more importance, and said she [Mrs. Burdick] must do it for him, that she then attempted to escape, that Johnson then seized an axe and said he would kill her if she left the room; that before [Johnson] left he led her into the kitchen, tied her hands behind her with a clothes line, and tied her to a bed post, tied a bonnet over her face and then went out doors and came back with a flour bag partly filled—that he then took the bonnet from her face, untied her hands, tied the cord round her waist long enough so she could go to the fire while tied to the bed post; that he then took a quantity of human bones out of the bag, among which was the head, bones and others, that he told her they were Mrs. Bolt's bones, and she must burn them, that she faint; that Johnson then burnt the bones—that he held an axe over her head, made her get on her knees and said he was afraid she would tell of it, and that he was a mind to kill her on the spot, that she begged for her life, that he said he would destroy her as he had Mrs. Bolt, and burn her up as he had seen her bones burn, if she told of it; that if he was hung he had friends that would kill her, and that she knew it, as she had just seen with her own eyes, that he then untied her and went away."

The trial is still progressing, and creates much interest throughout the adjoining counties.—N. Y. Tribune.

Securing a Fortune by Marrying Three Sisters.—A story is told by the New York Globe of one of the newly elected senators from one of the river counties to the Ohio legislature, which shows that he is good at holding on in a good cause. A few years ago he courted and married a young lady who had two sisters, possessing among them a large fortune. His wife died, and by some means her share of property did not fall to him but remained in possession of the two surviving sisters. He courted and married the second one, who in the mean time had arrived at womanhood. By her he had one child; soon after she too died, and it was so arranged that the property remained in possession of the other sister, and neither could come in possession of it until this offspring was of age. In the meantime the third sister came to maturity. What did our hero but court and marry her. "He didn't do anything else?" and is now in possession of the whole fortune originally left to the three sisters.—Philadelphia.

The wheat crop of Iowa is said to be suffering severely from the ravages of an insect of a singular kind, the like of which was never seen there before. They have totally destroyed many crops of winter wheat.

BANKRUPT STATISTICS.—The following statement, furnished by the Clerk of the U. S. Bankrupt Court will be found interesting. It appears there are three hundred and ninety petitioners who have not been discharged, and three hundred and fifty-six who are opposed by creditors.

Some of the statements are almost incredible; for instance, that out of the number of 2550 bankrupts, there were 283 whose debts were over $100,000, and 12 over a million each. Of these latter, the largest was one of the Messrs. Joseph, whose liabilities were $5,781,000. The whole amount of indebtedness issued out by the operations of the law, reaches the enormous amount of one hundred and thirty millions, five hundred and eighty thousand dollars.

Arrest of Two Sharpers.—On Saturday a man by the name of Shed overhauled at the Eastern railroad depot a young man from the country, who was in search of employment. He drove him round in a cab to several places on the mill pond section of the city. At last Shed stopped to see a man pick up a pin cushion, apparently. A bet was proposed that it contained needles and not pins, although some pins were visible. The young man took out his money—$84—to bet, and handed a part of it to Shed, and at the same instant the other fellow snatched the remainder out of his hand, and fled. Shed then fled, too, but in a different direction. By the aid of the Messrs. Andrews, constables, the young man tracked the swindling thieves to a cellar, and they were arrested.

Boston Post.

Suicide.—Capt. J. C. Reed, of the U. S. Army, shot himself at a hotel in Wheeling on Tuesday morning last. He arrived the day before from Cincinnati and in the evening paid his bill, and his fair to Philadelphia, and retired to his chamber, but did not go to bed. He appeared melancholy and somewhat deranged. The Wheeling Times states that "he had a letter in his possession of recent date, from General Gaines, accepting his resignation as one of his aids, and couched in the most flattering terms. He had also a sword, presented to his father by the Legislature of New York, for honorable service in the last war, and by his father, presented to him in 1841. He had about $80 of money with him, and some baggage. He was aged about 35 years."

CHRISTIANITY.—An individual whose name it is not necessary for us to mention complained of a very good looking female of very respectable appearance, the mother of an interesting little child, which she carried in her arms, for the enormous and monstrous crime of stealing two old cotton skirts, of the value of ten cents. The evidence was not positive—the accused had never before been suspected of anything—protested her innocence, but was unable to prove a negative. The case was deemed sufficiently strong, in the opinion of the Justice, to commit her for trial, and she was accordingly incarcerated. The next morning she was placed upon the prisoner's bench, in the Court of Sessions, surrounded by the very vilest of the vile, whose very proximity was pollution. Her eyes were red and bloodshot from weeping, and she looked the perfect picture of misery and despair, presenting a sad contrast to the smiling countenance of the infant in her arms. The complainant did not appear, and after sitting for some time in court, Alderman Stoneall discharged her.

Aerial Advertising.—There is no limit to human ingenuity in devising means to give publicity to advertisements. At London, lately, three monster fire balloons ascended about mid-day from different parts of the metropolis, and created considerable amusement from the fact of their discharging prodigious numbers of bills from various altitudes. On reaching terra firma they were eagerly secured, and found to contain announcements of a periodical publication.

Warning to Office-Seekers.—A curious libel suit is now before the Circuit Court of Washington city, in which Robert White is plaintiff and Henry Addison and others, defendants. The Intelligent says:—We understand the alleged libel consists in a letter addressed to the President of the United States, and written, as it is charged, for the purpose of causing the plaintiff's removal from office as collector of the port of Georgetown.

From Texas.—Galveston papers to the 11th, have been received at New Orleans by the steamship New York.

The Red Lander reports the decision of a very important case of Spanish claims involving 17,000 acres of land, and embracing the town of San Augustine, in favor of the claimants, Col. A. Horton and others. The suit has been pending four years. A new daily paper called the Globe, has been started at Galveston. All appears to be quiet on the frontiers. For the security of the inhabitants at San Antonio and Austin, and in the vicinity of those places, a force has been detailed.

It is estimated that no less than 16,000 bales of cotton will be shipped from Houston the present season.

There is quite a spirited contest going on in favor of the candidates to represent Texas in the U. S. Senate. Gen. Lamar appears to be popular in the West, and Gen. Rusk in the East.

The vote against annexation is very small indeed. The Camanches it appears are again committing depredations near Austin. A party of surveyors locating land on the Guadalupe were attacked by a party of Indians but succeeded in making their escape.

A great mortality among wild fowls had taken place on the northern and western shores of Galveston Bay, thousands of which have been swept ashore, to the great satisfaction of the people on the bay, who gather an immense number to obtain their feathers.

The force at San Antonio and at Austin, respectively, is given us by Capt. H. W. Merrill, as follows:—

Force at San Antonio.—Two companies (A. & G.) 2d U. S. Dragoons, and two companies mounted Rangers—Maj. Fauntleroy, 2d Dragoons, commanding.
Force at Austin.—One company (I) 2d U. S. Dragoons, and one company mounted Rangers. (Captain Cady's) 61 men each, Brevet Major B. L. Ball, 2d Dragoons, commanding.—Galveston News, Nov. 11.

Extract of a letter from an officer in the camp at Corpus Christi, Oct. 25.

The aggregate of the troops now encamped here is 3800—five regiments of infantry, one of artillery serving as infantry, three companies of light artillery, (but one of them without horses,) one regiment of cavalry, the 2d dragoons, &c. Our march (from Fort Jesup) through Texas was a very pleasant one; the country beautiful in many parts; roads good, and plentiful supplies for both man and horse. The want of water on the prairie is the greatest drawback. The rivers are not navigable to any considerable distance. The fine steamship Alabama runs directly from New Orleans to St. Joseph's Island, 30 miles below, on Aransas bay, whence small steamers come up to this place.

THE MEMPHIS CONVENTION assembled on the 12th instant, and some preliminary proceedings were had. Hon. E. J. Shields was appointed Chairman pro tem and J. G. Harris, Dr. Gibbons and S. Linsley acted as Secretaries. Among the distinguished delegates present, were Ex-Governor Jones, Ex-Senators Clay and Foster, John Bell, and Col. Gadsden of Charleston, S. C. Mr. Calhoun did not arrive until the evening, when he was received with flattering honors. The following is the number of delegates announced to be in attendance: From Tennessee, 197; Kentucky, 7; Arkansas, 12; Mississippi, 125; Missouri, 45; Alabama, 10; South Carolina, 7; North Carolina, 1; Illinois, 16; Indiana, 4; Texas, 3.

FINE SPORT.—The Montgomery Journal reports that a party of gentlemen recently went on a deer hunt and in four days killed sixty one. They hunted in Coosa county. One gentleman killed seven deer. Another killed three at a single shot. A wild cat and several turkeys were likewise brought in.

A new potato digger was recently exhibited in operation at Salem, West Jersey. It threw out upon the ground, with two horses, at the rate of five or six acres per day, and as fast as thirty hands could pick up and carry away. The soil produced 400 bushels potatoes per acre by the use of compost muck.

Death of the Mayor of Boston.—The Hon. Thomas A. Davis, Mayor of Boston died at his residence in Brookline on Saturday last, at half past 12 o'clock. A pulmonary affection aggravated by the labor and responsibility of his public duties, was the cause of his death.

There are six widows living in New Jersey, within the distance of half a mile whose united ages amount to five hundred and twenty-six years! Their ages are as follows: one of 94 years, one 93, two 87, one 84, and one 81.

HEAVY DAMAGES.—During the last week a seduction case of great enormity was tried before the Superior Court, on which a verdict of $8,000 damages was awarded. The suit was brought by Joseph Copenhaver, now of Frederick, against Sampson Pelter, of this county, for the seduction of his daughter, a girl about seventeen years of age. The parties are reputed and hitherto acknowledged brothers in law, though Pelter essayed to prove himself a "filius nullus;" and the niece had been taken to the house under the pretext of being a nurse and companion of his sick daughter. The verdict in the case is considered a very just one, and Pelter is well able to pay it.

GALE ON LAKE ERIE.—The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser of Saturday brings us a formidable list of lake disasters occasioned by a severe gale, which commenced on Saturday night and continued two days, accompanied by blizzards of snow. The water, however, at Buffalo did not rise so as to do any damage by inundation, but the rush of vessels back to port for safety was very great, and a great many accidents were the result. Capt. Gale, of the schooner Oceana, says the Commercial, is lying on board the brig Empire, with his leg broken. His vessel was bound down, and was struck midships, and, by the shifting of his deck freight and loose materials, he suffered as above. The schr. Western Trader, Barton, master, with a full cargo of flour and provisions is a total wreck on the beach just above the marine railway—his vessel is broken to pieces and full of water. The schr. Blue Bell is beached below Wind Mill Point, in Canada, but not injured. A young man named Niel Smith, belonging to the schr. F. Trader, was killed on board that vessel off the lighthouse, by the falling of the foreboom while the schr. was in the act of jibing. His connections reside in Canada, some where beyond Detroit.

The schooner Texas, of Buffalo, capsized on the Canada side of the lake, with the appearance of having lost her crew. The master, Capt. B. F. Trowbridge, went up to Toledo in advance to secure a cargo, and was not on board; but it is said a younger brother was.—The fate of him and his companions is the subject of much solicitude.

NEW FACTORIES.—Many new factories of the largest class, will go into operation within fifty or sixty miles of this town, during the next season. Probably a larger number are going up within this circle, than in any other portion of the country. There is the mammoth mill at Portsmouth, with 50,000 spindles, almost as many as all the six factories in this town will have when completed; and that at Salem, running 40,000 spindles. High up the Merimack, at Manchester, two or three new mills of the largest class are being erected. At Nashua a large mill is also building. At Lowell, the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. are putting up a mill 400 feet long, to run 20,000 spindles, and the Hamilton Co. one of 300 feet long to run 15,000 spindles; and the Middlesex Woolen Company, are also about building a large mill. At Dover, the Cocheco Co. are erecting the largest Calico Printery in the country.

The walls of the two new mills in this town are completed, and the machinery all contracted for, so that they will be in operation early next summer. The Globe Mill will have 13,000 spindles and 325 looms, and the Ocean Mill 8000 spindles and 216 looms.

In addition to all these, we learn by a gentleman from Lowell, that the Directors of the Lowell Manufacturing Company, voted last week to erect a new mill 320 feet long and 200 wide, 5 stories high, for the manufacture of Power Loom Carpets. It will contain 50 Brussels and 250 Ingrain Looms.—Newburyport Herald.

A survey has been held on the boilers of the steamship Princeton, and resulted in a statement, by the examining Engineers, of their dangerous condition.—They report them fit for only two months duty, under low steam. The metal was found to be so badly corroded and oxidized, as in many places to be less than one eighth of an inch in thickness. The boilers are seven feet wide each, and three in number. The steam pipes within the boilers were found quite friable to the touch—one of them perforated with holes so low, that the cylinder must have worked water in place of steam, during her last trip. New steam pipes must be provided, before she can again be used under steam.

Sheep Killing.—The Angelico (Allegany Co.) Advocate says, there is something done at this business in that county, how much they are unable to say. In the town of Birdsall, the killing of 1000 was commenced last week.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

COMMUTATION.—The Governor of Virginia has commuted the sentence of the negro slave, recently convicted in Fairfax county of the murder of Mr. Vermillion, to banishment. The negro was carried through this place on Wednesday, to be sent out of the United States. The action of the Governor was induced by strong representations in favor of the negro, from a large number of the citizens of the county, who believed that in striking the deceased the slave did not intend to commit murder.

N. O. Picayune.

Fire at Savannah.—A fire broke out in Savannah on the 17th inst., which destroyed four dwelling houses on State-street, two owned by Mrs. T. Lloyd, one by Capt. Stephenson, and one by Mrs. Barnard. Several other houses were partially destroyed, and some out-buildings and negro houses were torn down to prevent the progress of the flames. Mrs. Barnard was the greatest sufferer,—she had no insurance, and her loss is estimated at $2300.

The Sentence of the Anti-Rent Murders.—The Albany Argus of Tuesday publishes by authority a letter of Gov. Wright of New York, to the Sheriff of Delaware Co., commuting the punishment of Van Stenberg and O'Connor, convicted of murder, from death to imprisonment for life. It has been for some days stated that this course would be taken, but it is now for the first time officially announced.

NAVAL.—A letter from the Light House, Canton, states that she was to leave that place immediately for Manila, and thence home on the 1st of June. As soon as the crew heard of the fire at Pittsburgh, they got up a subscription for the sufferers, which amounted to $1720.—They purchased a bill of exchange on Boston for $1950, by which a pretty increase to the amount was made, and transmitted the same to His Honor Judge Shaw, to be forwarded to the committee for the relief of the aforesaid sufferers.

AN EXPENSIVE GUN.—The great gun brought over by the John R. Skiddy, consigned to R. Thompson, Esq., the friend of Capt. Stockton, weighed 16 tons, or about 16,000 lbs. The freight on it amounted to $1,100. The freight on it cost about $250. The consignor, R. Kermit, Esq., paid $30 for hoisting and landing it on the wharf. It took a large truck and seven or eight horses to move it. The cost has been about as follows:

Invoice (about)	$4,000
Freight	350
Duty	1,100
Incidental expenses, probably about 100
Total.	$5,450.

FIRST SLEIGHING.—During last night and this morning there was a heavy fall of snow, and sleighs are now traversing the city in every direction, not altogether unmingled with carts. That the snow will remain is as yet doubtful, although the temperature was cold.

At St. Marie La Beauce, on Monday last, there was excellent sleighing, the snow on the ground being three inches in depth.—Quebec Mercury, November 13.

CHICAGO.—The number of vessels which have entered the port of Chicago, from the 6th of April last to the 1st inst. is 1,077 of which 742 were schooners, 151 steamboats, 105 brigs, and 79 propellers. Notwithstanding this amount of shipping, it is stated that 16 cents a bushel was paid for transport to Buffalo, and that 300,000 bushels will accumulate in store and lie over at the close of navigation for want of vessels.

Tennessee Member of Congress.—An election is to be held in the 8th district of Tennessee on the 11th of December, for the choice of a Representative in Congress, in place of Mr. Peyton, deceased. Mr. Peyton was one of the five Whig members elect of that State.

Mr. Bogardus, of Albany, was very seriously injured by being thrown from his carriage on Friday. His skull was fractured and he is not expected to survive.—The horse dashed upon the side walk and severely injured an aged lady, Mrs. Stephenson, that she died the same day.

Loss of a Steamboat.—The steamboat Richmond, bound from Louisville to New Orleans, with a full cargo, struck a rock in the Ohio River on the 16th, and is with the cargo nearly a total loss. The Richmond cost $26,000, and was owned by Capt. Yeo, and Capt. McCord, her officers. She was insured for $30,000. Her cargo consisted of 1700 bbls. of flour and a small lot of Hemp. The machinery and furniture will be saved; and part of the cargo will probably be got out in a damaged condition.

A Dog Case.—Thomas McCarthy recovered $80 of James Guid, last week, in Boston, for injury done his child, five years old, by defendant's dog. The defence was, that the owner had some time previous to the injury, turned the dog at large in the street with a view of parting with his ownership, and it was insisted, that under such circumstances he was not liable. But Judge Merrick instructed the jury otherwise. He said the owner must divest himself of his property in some legal manner or he would remain liable under the Statute for any damage done by the dog.

Fire in Columbia county N. Y.—The dwelling, barns and out-houses of Mr. Michael Miller, of the town of Livingston, Columbia county, were entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday evening last.—The amount of loss had not been ascertained, but it is said that it must be very great, as Mr. Miller was the most extensive farmer in the county, and most of his crops must have been still on his premises.

HOUSES OF ILL-FAME.—The Chief of Police has reported to the Mayor 303 HOUSES OF ILL-FAME with the name of the occupants. Large as this number is we think it is less by far than the actual number of the dens of infamy which it pretends to enumerate.—N. Y. Express

The Carriage Shop attached to the state prison at Windsor, Vt., was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 16th instant. The adjacent buildings were saved, although some of them were several times on fire, and the Journal of that place concludes that "there is not a fire department in New England that has proved itself so efficient as that of Windsor."

Sugar Crop in Louisiana.—The Attakapas Banner publishes a table of the quantity of sugar produced in the several districts of the State in the years 1848 and 1844, which shows an amount of 100,346 hogheads in the former year, and of 191,324 in the latter, showing an increase of 90,978 hogheads.

CONGRESS.
The first session of the 29th Congress commences at Washington, on Monday next, the first day of December.

The Court of Common Pleas for this county, Judge Staples presiding, commenced its November term in this town on Tuesday morning—there was no business of importance before the Court, which adjourned to its regular term, on Wednesday evening.

FIRE.—Our citizens were aroused from their beds on Sunday morning about 2 o'clock by the ringing of bells and the cry of fire; the cause of the alarm proved to be that a house on the South side of the Long Wharf occupied by an Irish family, was discovered by the Watch to be on fire, it having burst a hole through the floor and side of the house, by prompt exertions what might have been a serious conflagration, was speedily extinguished without much damage.

Hon J. H. Harmanson (Dem.) is elected to Congress in the Third District of Louisiana, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. Dawson, by a majority of about 700. His opponent was Mr. Couley.

UNITED STATES SENATOR.—Governor Brown, of Mississippi, has appointed the Hon. Joseph W. Chalmers, of Marshall county, Senator in Congress, in place of the Hon. Jacob Thompson, who declined the appointment.

THE FLORIDA ELECTION.—Mr Cabel, the whig candidate, has got his certificate of election, as the law requires that the Governor shall certify within thirty days after the election who has a majority of the returned votes. Mr C. was found to have 69 more returned than Mr Brocken, though, who however, has a small majority of the whole vote cast in the State.

The Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church at its recent session resolved to adhere to the newly formed M. E. Church South, in consequence of the action of the General Conference in the case of Bishop Andrew.

A Statue of General Jackson is to be placed in the Tennessee Capitol, and a monument to him erected on the banks of the Mississippi, near Memphis—by resolutions of the Tennessee Legislature.

Massachusetts.—Hon JOSEPH QUINCY, Jr., has been nominated by the Whigs of Boston as their candidate for Mayor.—The election is to be held on the second Monday of December next.

A BIBLE FOR OLD BELL.—The Home Missionary Society, of Philadelphia, presented Old Bell with a magnificent Bible, on Saturday 15th, as a testimony of the appreciation of his kindness, in giving a gratuitous Concert to the poor.

The American Board of Foreign Missions, has since it was first instituted, received and disbursed $2,500,000 in the promulgation of the gospel.

Samuel Parker, Esq., a member of the Massachusetts bar, was tried last week at Lowell, for perjury, and convicted by the jury. His counsel had filed a bill of exceptions to some of the decisions of the court, and the case will be carried to the court above.

A churn has been invented in Northampton, which requires only to be wound up and set in motion, and the butter comes out ready for use, (!) while the good housewife employs herself with knitting or reading a newspaper.

The small pox is said to be raging fearfully in Baltimore—a great many deaths have occurred, and those who had been inoculated had fallen victims to it.

Another unfortunate divine.—Rev. Thomas B. Tibbles has been found guilty by a Philadelphia jury of the paternity of an infant, of which the mother is Miss Emerson, aged 23 years. She and her friends are highly respectable. The parties were engaged in the Miller delusion, and Miss E.'s brother was a very particular friend of Mr. Tibbles. The married gentleman has a wife.

DOG LABOR.—The Wheeling Times notices a dog belonging to a German blacksmith in South Wheeling which is somewhat remarkable for its sagacity.—The blacksmith has one forge that he devotes altogether to making nails for the coarsest shoes. At this a dog makes about a thousand a day, having the dog to blow the bellows which is done by a wheel attached to a crank. The dog blows when the iron is in the fire; but as soon as it is taken out he stops to rest, and commences at once when it is in again.

Husk Mattresses.—The scarcity and high price of palm leaf waste has led the manufacturers of mattresses to look for a substitute, and beds of an excellent quality are now manufactured in this town by Messrs. J. & J. F. Woods, of husks.—The husk is prepared and curled like hair and becomes more permanent and elastic than palm leaf.—Barre Gazette.

As a countryman with his team of three mules with a load of paper, was coming to this city yesterday morning, and while crossing the meadows near Bergen he discovered his load on fire, and notwithstanding his utmost exertions the load and wagon was consumed, his animals barely escaping. The fire was communicated from the pipe with which the driver was regaling himself.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

Ransom Gullow, who eloped with Esther Grant, a guileless girl, on Thursday (13th) returned to East Amherst the next day. In the evening, some 40 persons collected, rode him on a rail, gave him a coat of tar, and made him promise to leave and never show his face in town again. The whole transaction is causing considerable excitement in Amherst.—Gullow has been in the State Prison.

A Relic of Antiquity.—The Editor of the Baltimore Clipper has seen something which to antiquarians may be interesting as a memento of former ages.—It consists in a leather snuff-box in the form of a tiny shoe, which is said to have been found during the excavations of the ruins of Herculaneum. It will be borne in mind that this city with many others was buried by a steam eruption of Mount Vesuvius, during the reign of Titus, in the 79th year of the christian era. This little shoe or snuff box, which is made without a seam, was found some years ago by a workman engaged in making the excavations. It had consequently lain buried more than 1700 years.

Elizabeth J. Speed, a respectable young lady of Norwich, Chenango county, N. Y., a few nights since, left her room, having dressed with great care, went to the Canal, laid aside her bonnet and shawl and drowned herself. She had been for some time engaged in marriage to a young man who, she was convinced, intended to desert her—and this so preyed upon her mind as to induce her to commit suicide.

ROMANTIC.—A bit of romance has just come off at Lowell. A wealthy young man, and a South Carolinian, being on a visit to Lowell to examine the manufacturing wonders of that city, fell in love with one of the factory girls, proposed a marriage to her, was accepted, and is about to remove her from the scene of her labor to another of a less laborious and irksome character in the sunny south.

The Dismal Swamp on Fire.—This Swamp is again on fire, and has been for several days, and last evening the atmosphere in this vicinity was thick with the smoke of the burning Juniper. When, last summer, we questioned the correctness of Mr. Espy's theory of large fires producing rains, we were told that high winds must not be an accompaniment. Well, we have the fire without the wind, and yet we have no sign of rain, for weeks. Last night about 9 o'clock the wind came out lightly from the North, and cleared off the smoke, when the whole Southern heavens showed themselves gorgeously illuminated by the fires that were raging in the Swamp.—Norfolk Herald 22d.

About twelve years since the ship Delaware, on her passage from Liverpool to Philadelphia, with a cargo of between 500 and 600 tons of railroad iron, and a few packages of merchandise, was sunk in the Delaware Bay, and all attempts to raise the cargo or vessel have been unsuccessful, until Messrs Andrews & Bennett, of New York, undertook the matter. These gentlemen have labored for several months past in the most persevering manner, and have succeeded in raising about 130 tons of the iron, which has been taken to Wilmington and pronounced valuable, although somewhat injured. It is believed that nearly all the iron will be recovered and the ship eventually raised.

A boy of 18, the only tenant of the jail at Frankfort, Ind., set fire to that edifice and was consumed with it on the 6th.

NOTICE.
The Annual Meeting of the Dorcas Society will be held at Trinity Church School House, on Monday, December 1st at 2 o'clock. Subscribers will please bring their subscriptions. A punctual attendance of all interested in the continuance of the Society is requested.

"The House of Life."—By this not inappropriate name some of the old philosophers have designated the human system. Modern luxury has opened the doors of this "House of Life" to troops of inflammatory diseases, and were it not that modern science has provided the means of arresting the incendiaries, and quenching the flame they kindle, the lease of the "house of life" would, in thousands of cases, be fearfully short. Fortunately the invention and improvement of remedial agents have kept pace with the increase of disease. Among all the preparation for the cure of external inflammation, ulcersous discharges, and simple or violent eruptions, of which the nineteenth century has been so prolific, we believe it may be proved statistically that Sander's Sarsaparilla has been the most efficacious.

Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by A. B. & D. SANDS, Wholesale Druggists 73 Fulton street, New York. Sold also at 273 Broadway, 77 East Broadway, and by Druggists generally throughout the United States. Price $1 per bottle. Six bottles for $5. Sold in Newport, by Dr. R. R. Hazard and R. J. NOTICE.

THE third of the series of Teachers' Institutes, appointed for this season will commence at Newport, on Monday evening, Dec. 1st, and continue in session through the week.

The introductory address will be given on Monday evening.

The regular exercises of the Institute will begin, and will consist in a review of the following subjects, with practicable illustrations of the best methods of teaching the same, viz:

The English Language, including spelling, pronunciation, practice in the elementary sounds, an analysis of derivative words, reading, definitions and composition.

Arithmetic, written and intellectual; and the last with special reference to teaching Colburn's First Lessons.

Pennmanship, with illustrations of a method of teaching this branch from Winchester's Chart and from the blackboard.

Grammar, with special reference to teaching the same orally, and in frequent practice of writing composition.

Geography with particular reference to drawing maps, and the use of outline maps and globes.

Drawing, so far as the same can be made a useful and interesting exercise on the slate and blackboard, for small children.

Other subjects, and particularly such as can be made the topics of oral instruction, will receive attention. The daily exercise of the members of the Institute in each branch will be conducted by a teacher, who has made that branch his particular study.

In the course of the session, every member of the Institute will have an opportunity to state any difficulties in the classification, instruction and discipline of schools which may have occurred in his own experience as a teacher, for the consideration of the institute; and a variety of topics connected with the successful management of schools, will be presented in addresses, discussions, and familiar suggestions, by the several gentlemen who have engaged to be present and take a part in the instruction of the teachers who may come together.

The School Committee of Newport have voted to make all the necessary local arrangements for the meeting, and to provide for the board of all who may attend.

HENRY BARNARD, Commissioner of Public Schools.

Agricultural.

Agriculture.

The United States owe their great principles of power and duration to that spirit of honest industry and that God-reverencing feeling which filled and elevated their forefathers. They came from the old world to this new one, (to plough, harrow, and hoe it) looking to God alone for his blessing upon their endeavors to obey his great command of earning their living by the sweat of their brows.

Spain sent out Cortez and Pizarro to gather the gold of Peru and Mexico.—They did gather it. Spain dropped her spade, her plough, and her hoe. She revelled in the pride which thirty millions of American dollars a year for a period did sustain. She lost the will, and of course the power, to continue that beautiful culture of the splendid peninsula in which her lot was cast. The Hidalgo was too proud to work; Granada ceased to be what it once was—before the voyage of Columbus—a paradise in its gardens; Spain has for forty years past almost ceased to be heard of, except in her misfortunes. In that period of time, by the sweat of her brow, this Union has more than doubled the population of poor Spain, and grown so rich that the gold of the mines of Peru, gathered for twenty years will not pay for the produce of our industry in one year, nor for that of England of last year for six months; for, by the Parliamentary returns, the product of British agriculture in 1844, was $3,000,000,000!

There is no lesson in all history like that of the great fountain of Roman power. Cato said, "Meet the arduous labor of the farm as you would the enemies of your country in battle. Summon all your forces, and the earth will reward you with all her gifts. Neglect her, and you perish."

Such was the enthusiasm which gave that powerful people the first stand among the nations. When they became rich, built cities, herded in luxurious masses, crowded their amphitheatres, lounged about their magnificent baths, trying to alleviate the horrors of the demon of idleness; bawling at every corner of the streets to passers by, "Quid Novarum? Quid Novarum?" what's the news? what's the news? they fell a wretched prey before the Goth and the Vandal, who live a hardy life.

It is hardly practicable to find between the Aroostook and the Rio Grande a sound man who idles his years away.—All are impelled by the spirit of industry which old Cato would clap his hands to behold. Onward! onward! is the national heart-cry. Labor with invincible perseverance. No disappointment can check his progress. The axe prostrates the forests of ages; on comes the plough; and then the cradle which gathers in the glorious grain to feed all ours and half another nation besides, it needs vary.

In the eagerness of cultivation, we have not yet had time to think of the necessary exhaustion of our vexed fields.—Now in our older fields we begin to see that in our excessive haste we have overdrawn our bank. Science and care must now be consulted to restore that vegetable power which has been too prodigally squeezed from the bosom of the earth! The means are happily in our power.—It is already settled to a certainty that science can be applied with absolute profit to agriculture. Recent experiments have demonstrated the vast value of an accurate analysis of soils, of plants, and the peculiar elements required by the various kinds of vegetables for their complete and perfect growth. But, however valuable this discovery is, the grand art remains where it was. It is tilling the soil. By deep and frequent ploughings, by harrowing and hoeing, the soil obtains from the inexhaustible resource of the atmosphere, its elements, its dews and rains, the everlasting renewal of its fertility. No art will ever render this constant stirring of the soil unnecessary. Man's labor is bound to be forever mixed up in the products of agriculture. Bain says that agriculture is a manufacture—that the yield of the earth is almost without any preparation fit for consumption. This is true of almost every fruit. It is so true, that to the best specimens of Nature's own confectionary in the fruit line, man can scarcely do anything to alter it for the better.

The products of the farm are honest.—Who can forge a bushel of wheat? an ox? a strawberry? Perfect from the hand of God, they cannot be forged by man. Their profit, Bain says, is direct, for every seed you plant you have many in return.

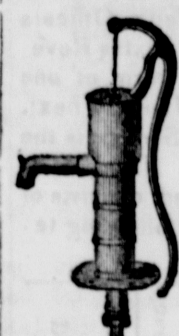

What interest have you like that from one pound of turnip seed, giving you twelve hundred bushels of turnips?

We rejoice to see so great a number of the best men of our country earnestly engaged in the cause of agriculture.—On such men and their well-tilled farms; on such men of temperate and vigorous bodies; on such men of calm, cool heads, the vast fabric of this republic rests secure. They are the mighty pillars on which the great edifice proudly inclines its vast weight.—N. Y. Morning News.

Indigestion & Costiveness.

Dandelion and Tomato Panacea.—To those persons who are disposed to Indigestion and Costiveness, by their sedentary habits, peculiarity of food; or from any cause whatever, the Dandelion and Tomato Panacea will be found to be of inestimable value; its cathartic properties are gentle, yet at the same time, thoroughly evacuates the bowels, and produces a regularity in the Digestive Organs, for which pleasurable result, it is highly admired; and has proved highly beneficial in that distressing complaint the Piles, and now receives the sanction of some of our first physicians, for the following complaints, arising from impurities of the blood, viz, Jackson or Barbers' Itch, Piles, Scoury, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, and their kindred diseases. Read the following certificate of Miss Bennett, showing a remarkable cure performed upon her by the use of only ONE Bottle of the Panacea.

[CERTIFICATE.]

In giving this Certificate to the public, I consider myself but as discharging a duty which I owe to my fellow sufferers, and also to the merits of the Dandelion and Tomato Panacea; I had been for a long time suffering with a humor termed Scald Head, to such a degree that my hair came out, and my face was loathsome to behold; I had tried several physicians, but they afforded me no relief, and I returned to my home despairing of ever obtaining relief, without which life was burdensome. By the advice of my friends, and the consent of the physician attending me, I was induced to procure of Mr. James Kidder, Jr., a bottle of his Dandelion and Tomato Panacea, and before I had used one bottle, my face was entirely cured, and all traces of disease obliterated, and I am now enjoying better health than I have experienced for the last two years, which can only be attributed to the power of this valuable Panacea; and which I cheerfully recommend as the greatest medicine of the day, and which no invalid should fail to try.

SARAH E. BENNETT. East Boston, April 12th, 1845. Manufactured only, and sold wholesale and retail by JAMES KIDDER, Jr., Druggist and Chemist, East Boston, where all orders will be punctually attended to. Also for sale by my duly appointed Agents, Dr. R. R. Hazard, on the parade; R. J. Taylor, and C. G. C. Hazard, Thames street, Newport, R. I.

"IS IT A HUMBUG?"

The Patent Galvanic Rings and CHRISTIE'S MAGNETIC FLUID.

DR. CHRISTIE promised the American Public when he introduced his discovery. That it should be tested solely by its merits.—Thousands of foreign certificates might readily have been presented, but it was believed that it would be more satisfactory to await some revision here, which might prove decisive as to its truth and efficacy. It is therefore with a feeling of pleasure that the following home certificates are presented to the public, which are selected from several others of a similar description, and have been voluntarily tendered by the respective parties.

The first is an extract from an editorial which appeared on the 24th inst. in the Albany Daily Citizen—J. Stanley Smith, Esq., Editor.

"The Patent Galvanic Rings, which are making such a stir in the world just now, are a novel invention of this age of inventions." "With regard to their efficacy, we can say that two or three cases have fallen under our notice, which have favorably impressed our minds. The first is that of a highly respectable merchant of New York, who declared to us that their use speedily relieved him of a cough, seated pain in the side, and many symptoms of a pulmonary complaint, and he is now entirely well. The second that we shall notice, is that of a young man named Robbins, a resident of this city, who about one year since was visited with an attack of Paralysis, which affected the whole of one side of his body. We accompanied a medical friend to his residence, No. 95 Beaver street, on Saturday, to inquire into his case. We found that he had been deprived entirely of the use of one arm and leg, and that sensation had been lost to the whole side of the body. He had been unable to use the leg in walking, or the arm in eating, and the physicians said they could not help him. Within a few weeks he had worn two and four of Dr. Christie's Galvanic Rings, and used the Magnetic Fluid, and the effect upon his paralytic limbs is astonishing. The deathlike coldness left them, the numbness began to give way to many sensations of returning life and feeling, perspiration came out freely, and he has been rapidly gaining, and while before he wore the Ring, he was unable to articulate distinctly, walk or feed himself, yet now he talks freely, rides out, walks some, and for the most part is able to help himself. These cases, coming to our personal knowledge, certainly testify to the merits of Dr. Christie's Galvanic Rings and Magnetic Fluid."

DR. CHRISTIE.—I have been severely afflicted for the last eight years, with cramp in my legs and thighs, frequently suffering the most excruciating pains, the cords of my legs having contracted into knots. I have tried every "remedy" that I have ever heard of without the least success. In truth, I seemed only to be getting worse. From a favorable account which I accidentally heard, I was induced to try the effect of your galvanic Rings and Magnetic Fluid. In less than 24 hours after wearing two of the Rings, one on each hand, the severe pain had effectually left me, and two weeks having now elapsed without any recurrence of my complaint, I believe a cure has been effected by your discovery, and deem it a duty to inform you of the fact, and state my willingness to have it made public. My wife has been severely troubled with Chronic Rheumatism, affecting her in various parts of the body, which has been cured, as she believes effectually, by the use of the Rings and the Magnetic Fluid, after a trial of but a few days. I shall feel pleased in satisfying the incredulous of the truth of the above on personal application. SAMUEL SHIELDS. 155 Eldridge street. New York, June 25, 1845.

New York, June 23, 1845. DR. A. H. CHRISTIE.—Dear Sir—I have from my childhood been afflicted with almost constant nervous headache and rheumatic pains in my legs and arms. I have often suffered so intensely that it has prevented me from following my usual occupation and frequently destroyed my appetite. My nervous debility and weakness has consequently been so great that after having tried almost everything without any relief, I gave up in despair. I was recommended to try your Galvanic Rings and Magnetic Fluid, and only at a friend's urgent solicitation was induced to do so. Its effect upon my system was almost miraculous. After a few hours the application appeared to strengthen my nerves, relieve me of my headache, and I have had no other relapse of the Rheumatism or any pains since the first day. I would therefore, unhesitatingly, recommend your Galvanic Rings and Fluid to those afflicted as I have been.

Respectfully JACOB A. OGBURY, 162 William st.

These certificates are published for the purpose of inspiring an honest confidence in his discovery which Dr. Christie believes it deserves. If it were necessary, many others would be given, which may be seen at the Office, 134 Fulton street. In all kinds of Rheumatism and Nervous Complaints, the beneficial effect is certain and lasting, and in all cases where the Galvanic Batteries and Magnetic Machines are recommended, the Galvanic Rings and Magnetic Fluid will be found equally beneficial, much safer, and twenty times as cheap. The only place in New York to obtain the genuine article, is at Mr. Christie's Office, 131 Fulton street (Sun Building).

To guard against fraud Dr. Christie appoints but one agency in each of the cities of the United States. The only agent in Newport is R. J. TAYLOR, Thames street.
